

What would you like to empower yourself with?

Think about something you'd like to give yourself permission to do, or be, more of.

What can you put into place to help with that?

You might want to jot down some ideas of things that can help you or plan out your next steps.